Dear Imprivata Hiring Team,

I am writing to express my strong interest in the Enterprise Customer Success Manager position. In mission-critical healthcare environments, software security and digital identity governance cannot come at the expense of clinical efficiency. Imprivata's commitment to eliminating workflow friction while safeguarding enterprise endpoints requires a partner who understands both sides of the equation: advanced data architecture and real-world clinical delivery systems. My background directly bridges a Master of Science in Quantitative Methods and Modeling from Baruch College with years of hands-on experience managing complex systems triage, data quality governance, and high-concurrency stakeholder alignment.

My operational foundation directly matches the core objectives of this enterprise individual contributor track:

- Clinical & Technical Resource Coordination: While serving as Lead Patient Care Associate at Callen-Lorde, I sat at the exact intersection of clinical operations and technical deployment during an enterprise-wide Epic EMR platform migration for an 18,000-patient ecosystem. I systematically audited user workflows, identified data privacy and integration anomalies, and served as a primary cross-functional liaison translating complex user friction into actionable technical requirements for database engineers, improving resolution speeds for systemic conflicts by 50%.
- Executive Relationship Building & Dispute Resolution: As an elected 1199SEIU Union Delegate representing a 300+ member personnel network, I developed elite stakeholder diplomacy stripes. I regularly navigated structural grievances, balanced rigid regulatory and policy frameworks, and mediated high-friction operational constraints directly with executive C-suite leadership to ensure institutional alignment and workflow continuity.
- High-Volume Enterprise Account Strategy: My 15-year foundation in high-concurrency relationship management and food & beverage operations, including critical account coordinates for flagship properties like The Standard Hotels, trained me to manage intense, multi-platform customer logic under strict performance metrics. Utilizing global CRM and reservation databases like SevenRooms and Tripleseat, I was directly accountable for validating records, driving customer retention, and managing expectations for over 300 daily high-value guest interactions.

I am highly analytical, exceptionally comfortable navigating complex enterprise CRMs and relational databases, and inherently look at customer adoption through the lens of data-driven value realization. Furthermore, I am fully equipped for your 40% travel requirement to engage on-site with your largest hospital system clients. While I am currently based in New York City, I am actively executing a permanent relocation to the Pacific Northwest and am targeting a long-term professional anchor in the Portland/Seattle market.

I look forward to discussing how my quantitative training and healthcare workflow expertise can help Imprivata raise the bar on retention, maximize product adoption, and secure renewals across your premium enterprise portfolio. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Preston Carey Leslie
